Editorial

GLAD IT'S FRANKLIN, NOW

With perhaps an overdue ghoulish saturnalia of sombreness, this editorial chair cannot refrain from having its moments of morbid reflection. Duing the past six weeks we have watched an amazing spectacle unfold before our bewildered eyes and know not whether to christen it panacea of precipice.

Never in peace times has any American gained possession of such powers as now reside in the unique personality that is Franklin D. Roosevelt. During six weeks or more of time, Congress and the nation has clamored to bestow dictatorship upon him. Much of this dictatorship he candidly sought; the national emergency seemed to prompt its grant.

The Times-Virginian is in full accord with this program. It seems the only way out—and above all it is definitely a step—not the inertia of 1930-31-32. Godspeed to the program and every American has faith in its working. Already the momentum is reaching a cresendo.

But—we pause to insert this thought. We are GLAD THAT THE PRESIDENT RECEIVING THESE POWERS HAPPENS TO BE FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

Roosevelt will undoubtedly be returned for eight years—so there is scarce danger of false use of the great dictatorship granted to the White House for that period. By them the depression will be all history and the extraordinary powers given him will be returned to the people and to their Congress.

However, we cannot refrain from entering a notation that Hitler in Germany, Stalin in Russia or even Mussolini in Italy are not stronger in world position than our own Roosevelt and history will record that our generation saw the curve of democracy move to its representative apex.

THE NEW AUDITOR

T. McCarthy Downes, of Richmond, has replaced T. Coleman Andrews as state auditor of public accounts. The Times-Virginian looks with favor upon the new auditor and feels that the statewide reaction will be the same.

No one questions the abilities of T. Coleman Andrews as an auditor. He is a recognized skilled mathematician and past master at handling figures and accounts. However, his administration was more or less of a luxury for the tax-payers of Virginia. He introduced methods and a system of statistics that cost the tax-payers plenty. He can make out a case to show what he saved the tax-payers by discovering shortages in county treasurers accounts—but he cannot make out a case to show why this couldn't have been discovered at a fourth the expense to the state. Under his system it cost the tax-payers about $400 or more every time his assistents audited a county treasurer's books. It used to cost tbout $50. He then went beyond to dig up new methods for treasurers to use that were very expensive to say the least.

Downes comes of a very splendid family and has been raised in an atmosphere conducive to fine handling of the type of work he now faces. Andrews has returned to private practice of his calling—and we wish him well. He served the state conscienciously, but nevertheless he was an expensive luxury.

HERE, HERE, BARNUM

Barnum was the fellow who declared that a sucker is born every minute—or words to that effect.

He sized up the human race so thoroughly that he should be classed as a great philosopher as well as a successful showman.

Our particular thought is this:

If ever a foul and satanic missile from Hades was fostered upon an unsuspecting people, that missile jabbed the American public—not in October, 1929, our gentle readers, but in the months and years prior to October, 1929. SUCKERS. The greatest suckers in world history were those who ignorantly and childlike laid their precious dollars upon the altar of speculation. They bought pigs in a bag and their only receipt was the cheap thrill of standing on the corner and letting their neighbors see them eagerly scan the financial page of the daily papers. They figured that automatically made them "big business men" and they talked intimitely of American Can without knowing whether it was a can-opener or a fender. Yes, sir, the deluge, the debacle, the tragedy—was not in October, 1929. That was the dawn of readjustment. The sad chapter of the story was in the months and years before—when the public was playing SUCKER.

But here's our point.

Actually—"BELIEVE IT OR NOT," they're biting again! The front pages of our daily papers headline each fraction of a point change in Sears-Roebuck common or Case preferred as though a new Moses was on Mt. Sinai handing out heavenly bulletins.

Maybe we're really in a morbid mood this week—but we cannot help from prediction, that the return of prosperity will make us all forget October, 1929—and run back into the stock market again—we SUCKERS, Mr. Barnum . . . . . . SUCKERS.

New Light On Famous Explorer Is Reverled

The Times-Virginian has been priviliged to pursue this week several scrapbooks kept for years by the late Joel W. Flood, father of Col. Flood, of Appomattox.

These scrap-books contain a voluminous collection of newspaper clippings, which combine to present a fairly complete picture of local, state and national events during the last quarter of the nineteenth century.

We shall take the privilege of publishing from time to time excerps from these clippings and are sure that our readers will enjoy them.

One of the first to attract our attention was an article telling of the first "round-the-world" trip of young Dick Byrd, the man who later achieved international fame as explorer and aviator and scientist.

"Dick" was then but 12 years old. His picture accompanied the article—and a rare one it was. He wore short pants, high shoes, a wide brimmed hat and his flowing hair was parted in the middle. Listen to this:

"Below is a picture of little Richard E. Byrd, Jr., son of Frederick county's prosecuting attorney, R. E. Byrd, who will soon start on a tour of the world, and will completely circle the earth before returning. Master Dick is much envied by his playmates. He will start from Winchester on September 1 . . . the young traveler is just twelve years of age. He seems to regard the journey not as an unusual occurance, and in fact will take trip at his father's suggestion more for the knowledge and experience to be acquired than for the pleasure."

This last paragraph explodes a myth circulated at the time of Byrd's flight to the North Pole—namely, that Dick ran away from home when a boy to circle the globe. This article definitely states that he was sent on the trip by his father and that it was with parental approval.

"Dick" Byrd is a nephew of the late Hal D. Flood, of Appomattox.

SAYS NEW TIRE OFFERS EIGHT IMPROVEMENTS

Eight important improvements in construction are embodied in the new 1933 Pathfinder automobile tire, according to H. M. Burge, local Goodyear Dealer, who has recently received his initial shipment of these tires.

"Heading the list of outstanding features is thirty per cent longer average tread wear by actual factory test," said Mr. Burge.

"With a tread that is 20 per cent thicker and 20 per per cent higher in tread block design, Goodyear tire engineers have made this extra milage possible," he continued.

The new tire has full center traction, more shoulder nonskid and prismed sidewalls.

New styling, full oversizing and improved design, according to Mr. Burge, class the new tire as the smartest lookink product at its price that he has ever handled.

"Incidentally, the Goodyear Company has built more than 17 million Pathfinder tires since the original design was introduced several years ago," said Mr. Burge, "and these have established an enviable reputation among thrifty buyers everywhere."

Tobacco Markets Will Open Earlier Next Year, Oct. 31st

Expectation of a heavy crop of dark fired tobacco in the old Virginia belt led the Lynchburg Tobacco Board of Trade at its annual meeting yesterday to lay plans for opening the Lynchburg market two weeks earlier next autumn than has been customary.

The board went on record as favoring October 31 as the opening date for the market. It will request the Tobacco Association of the United States to consider that date when it formally arranges for the beginning of tobacco sales throughout the country. The tobacco association arranges opening dates for all markets to suit the convenience of the trade and its action is necessary before the board can declare the date here.

A survey of the tobacco producing section indicates a much larger acreage of dark tobacco will be planted around Lynchburg than usual. Just what percentage the increase will be, tobacconists did not venture to estimate.

Lynchburg market opened late last fall, sales continuing until the middle of March this year. Fairly good prices were received.

The Lynchburg board heard reports from its officers, which were declared satisfactory. Officers were reelected and are Louis C. Albers, pesident; John D. Oglesby, vice-president and R. E. Jordan, secretary and treasurer.

Walter P. Tyree, who will operate Martin's warehouse next season, was elected a member of the board of directors and other directors were re-elected.

SOYBEANS OF HIGH OIL CONTENT URGED FOR CAROLINAS, AND VIRGINIA

Farmers in North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia, who plan to grow soybeans for a cash crop in response to the demand for export and for oil crushers will find most suitable for that market the yellow-seeded varieties which are high in yield of oil, W. J. Morse, soybean specialist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, says.

In this region, increased exporting and crushing activity has improved the demand for the high oil yielding varieties. The growing of soybeans as a cash crop has proved popoular with many farmers because the beans can be grown after an early grain or truck crop has been harvested.

Among the varieties which are most favored by buyers for oil or export purposes are the Mammoth Yellow, Haberlandt, Dixie, Herman, and Tokio. Farmers who want soybeans for forage crops usually grow the Tarheel Black, Biloxi, Laredo, Ototan, and Mammoth Brown varieties, but these do not yield as well nor produce as much oil as the varieties recommended for high oil content.

It Takes More Than Salts, Calomel, Mineral Waters, Oils, or Laxative Pills to Arouse a Sluggish Liver

They Give Only Temporary Relief From Constipation and Biliousness, Because They Have No Effect Whatever on the Liver or Its Production of Bile

Bile is nature's own laxative and your stomach and bowels require at least one quart of fresh bile every day to keep them clean, pure, free from fermentation, putrefaction, gas and disease germs.

When your liver becomes torpid or sluggish the bile stagnates and stops flowing freely. The contents of your bowels become the breeding place for germs and poisons; your food does not digest—it just ferments and decays in the bowels. The blood absorbs these poisons and you suffer from constipation, gas, sick headaches, biliousness, nervousness and sour stomach.

Sargon Soft Mass Pills will remove the cause of this condition and purify your entire system in nature's way. They are not like any other medicine you have ever taken. They are so gentle, thorough and natural in their action that there is nothing about them to remind you that you have ever taken a medicine, and most remarkable of all you gradually reduce the dose until you no longer require a laxative at all.

Five years ago it was generally believed that calomel and laxative drugs stimulated the liver, but modern science has proved that calomel, salts, mineral waters, oils and other laxatives have no effect whatever on the liver.

Sargon Soft Mass Pills act directly on the liver because they contain two amazing substances which highest medical authorities agree are the only effective stimulants to the bile-producng activity of the liver known to modern science. These substances stimulate and invigorate the liver to cleanse and purify itself through increasing its production of bile. This fresh bile immediately starts to work neutralizing acids and poisons, stopping fermentation and decay, cleansing and purifying the bowels and sweeping out accumulated poisons.

Unless you have tried Sargon Soft Mass Pills you can have no idea of the effects produced by this natural cleansing of your liver and bowels. It makes you feel years younger, stronger, healthier and happier. It brings back life and color to faded eyes and cheeks, restores the appetite and sound digestion—gives you a new outlook on life itself.

Insist on genuine Sargon Soft Mass Pills. Don't be misled. There are only two known substances which will actually stimulate a torpid or sluggish liver to cleanse and purify itself by increasing its production of bile. Sargon Soft Mass Pills contain both of these substances and no other advertised medicine on the American market today does contain them.

Only 60c for a full 30-day treatment. At your druggist, or write G. F. Willis, Inc., Atlanta, Ga.
